

PRESS RELEASE

December 2006

Recognition for emisit

emis intellectual technology have been nominated for the highly prestigious legal technology awards.

The Leeds based outfit whose client base has grown by 400% so far in 2006 see this as another reason why any professional organisation looking to improve their business process should look at emis intellectual technology.

“I’m pleased that weve been nominated for this award because when potential clients look at emis intellectual technology as a supplier, they should realise they are getting quite a bit more than a database and some workflows. We don’t want our clients to focus solely on the total technological integration of the Seneca suite. We want them also to be aware of the service level integration that provides one source for many benefits at a single price.”

says Chris Spencer - emis’ Development Director.

emis will be attending the award ceremony in the New Year keen to go one step further with a positive decision from the judging panel.
